

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVENING, OCT. 26, 1882.

THE soldier boys are under arms
And ready, every man,
To take the field with fearless front,
Against the lawless clan;
To keep supreme Kentucky laws,
Though danger may be great,
And with their blood, unsullied keep
The honor of the state.

FIRE! FIRE!!

Four Business Blocks at Hopkinsville, Ky., Burned by Incendiarists.

Loss Two Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Special to the DAILY BULLETIN.

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Oct. 26, 1882: A terrible disaster by fire occurred here last night. Four of the most important business houses in the center of the city were fired by incendiarists and totally destroyed. The loss is estimated to be $200,000.

The steamer Katie Stockdale is now running in the place of the Telegraph.

JOHN MANN was shot and wounded in the left breast by Ed. Evans, at Ripley, one day this week.

JASPER BRADSHAW, aged fifty-nine years, of Nicholas county, was killed a few days ago by the kick of a horse.

PROF. W. L. YERKES, a school teacher at Paris, was shot and wounded by Homer Oldson, a pupil fifteen years of age.

FRANK DERBY, a conductor on the Kentucky Central was run over and killed by a train near Demossville, last Saturday.

THE Hon. John G. Carlisle arrived this morning and will certainly speak at the court house this evening. The ladies are cordially invited to honor the occasion by their presence.

THE aggregate loss by an incendiary fire at Lexington, on Monday, was $20,000, partly covered by insurance. Twenty mules and seventeen short horn cattle valued at $10,000 were burned.

Do not forget that the Hon. John G. Carlisle, one of the most distinguished public men of the day, will speak at the court house this evening. Every voter in this neighborhood should hear him.

DURING a display of fire works at Philadelphia, yesterday, seven persons, among the number several ladies and children, were killed by the explosion of a mortar bomb. Twelve persons were wounded, five of whom are expected to die.

CAPT. CULBERTSON is one of the most bitter Republican partisans in the state. He is in favor of electing Grant President for a third term, and could show, if not ashamed to do so, the brass medal that was given to him for his loyalty to Grant at the Chicago convention. A vote for him is a vote for rings, monopolies, class legislation and the perpetuation of Stalwart rule in this country.

IF Captain Culbertson got a bronze medal for his adherence to general Grant at the Chicago convention, what kind of a brass collar should be given to Smith Hurt for his services to Judge Hargis? Will some of our democratic friends give us an answer?—New Republican.

Yes, one of the kind that the "independent" young editor of the New Republican wears. The kind that makes the wearer eat dirt when the Stalwart finger is crooked. And the kind, too, that prevents the man who wears it from spelling "adherence" with an "a" in the last syllable.

"SURPRISES."

The brilliant genius of the New Republican will be surprised to know that it is "descriptive" and not "discriptive," and that it is "stating" not "stateing".

The aforesaid genius will also be surprised to learn that "in justice to mechanics and working men" the ferry-boat does "run until six o'clock, at least."

And the young editor will be surprised, too, to learn that the following from his pen is about as clear as mud:

The grand jury will take action on his case, which at this writing (Friday noon) it will probably reach some time in the afternoon, being at that time engaged on the case of the Insko murder.

If all that is true he ought to be hanged.

This correct corrector of his neighbor's errors, will no doubt be startled to learn that coal has not "raised to ten cents." It is the price of the article that has done that.

The wise, though youthful editor, will be surprised to learn that "the beautiful and artistic sign of our office, which hangs at the door of the telegraph office," is not the sign of "our office," at all. The proper sign is the picture of a fretted little boy who is always in a state of displeasure at the trifling errors of his less intelligent neighbors.

This brilliant young man will be surprised to learn in addition to all this, that when a man is smitten on the cheek he turns the other—probably.

Report of the Grand Jury.

To the Honorable Judge of the Mason Circuit Court: We, the grand jury empaneled for the present (October) term of the Mason Circuit Court, respectfully report: That we have endeavored to faithfully inquire into all infractions of the law brought to our notice. We find the public buildings and offices in good order and well kept, no complaint being made before us on any account of same. We would especially mention that we find the jail in very neat, cleanly order and in as good sanitary condition, probably, as could be, under the circumstances.

The jail, we would report as insufficient and insecure, but having been previously condemned by the authorities, and regarded as only of temporary occupancy, (the new jail being in process of erection) we do not deem further specific report of same necessary. No further business being before us, nor appearing, we respectfully ask your honor that we be now discharged.

WILL H. COX, Foreman.

MAYSVILLE, KY., October 21, 1882.

Democratic Speaking.

The following list of appointments has been made by the Executive Committee, and the speakers and citizens are earnestly requested to be present:

Hon. John G. Carlisle, at the Court House, Maysville, Ky., at 7 p. m. Thursday, October 26, 1882.

Judge Emory Whitaker, and Judge Wm. P. Coons, at Dover, Ky., Saturday, October 28, at 2 p. m., and at Mayslick, Saturday, November 4, at 2 p. m.

Hon. E. C. Phister, and W. P. Larew, esq., at Fern Leaf, Ky., Saturday, October 28, at 2 p. m. Washington, Ky., Saturday, November 4, at 2 p. m.

Hon. J. D. Kehoe, George R. Gill, esq., and George W. Sulser, esq., at Lewisburg, Saturday, October 28, at 2 p. m. Sardis, Saturday, November 4, at 2 p. m.

Hon. John L. Whitaker, Thomas M. Wood, esq., and James H. Sallee, esq., at Murphysville, Saturday, October 28, at 2 p. m., and at Crawford's, on Saturday, November 4th, at 7 p. m.

GRAND RALLY.

At the Court House, Monday night, November 6th, Hon. E. C. Phister, Judge E. Whitaker, Hon. Garrett, S. Wall and others will be the speakers. Let there be a full attendance. Remember, congressional election, Tuesday, November 7th.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mrs. C. Altmeyer and daughter, of Vanceburg, Ky., are visiting relatives in this city.

Mr. F. C. Griffin, special agent for the Pension Department is in this neighborhood on business.

Mr. John McIlvaine and family, of Plano, Texas, who have been visiting their relatives in this county returned home today.

Operatives Wanted.

Twenty-five girls for day work. Must be of irreproachable character. Good wages paid. Apply to the Maysville Knitting Company immediately. o24dlw

THE following marriage licenses have been issued in Brown county, Ohio, since our last report:

Peter Joseph Pfeffer and Lany Helbling.
W. W. Borden and Bettie Ficus.
E. A. Ralston and Amanda Wilks.
Charles H. Day and Ella Boles.
John Flowers and Letitia Drake.
George Benton Ogden and Emma Elmira Bennett.
Peter Fulmer and Belle Martin.

COUNTY POINTS.

MILLWOOD.

Miss Lyda Striger started last week to Danville, to attend the school for winter.

A great many of our farmers are having to move their weed out of the barn to give it an opportunity to strut so that it will not burst the sides of the barn.

Rev. Sims preached his first sermon at Helena to a very large congregation. We hope he may succeed in this part of the vineyard.

Elder Harkins has recovered almost from his late illness and will be able to fill his stand at Millcreek.

Prof. Calvert's school here is in a flourishing condition.

R. W. Wells & Co. are through prizing tobacco.

Jake Dunes was shot last week by some unknown person. The wound will probably prove fatal. Ben Robinson and Frank Ferguson were arrested, suspicion lying on them.

Don't whine about not having a fair chance. Throw a sensible man out of the window and he'll fall on his feet and ask the nearest way to his work. The more you have to beign with the less you will have in the end. Money you earn yourself is much better than any you get out of a dead man's supply. A scant breakfast in the morning of life whets the appetite for a feast later in the day. He who has tasted a sour apple will have the more relish for a sweet one. Your present want will make future prosperity all the sweeter. Eighteen pence has set up many a peddler in business and he has kept his carriage. As for the place you are cast in, don't find fault with that. You need not be a horse because you were born in a stable. If a bull tossed a man sky high he would drop into a good place. A hard-working young man with his wits about him will make money while others do working but lose it. X.

Minnie Hawk Selling Bouquets.

New York Times.

A smiling lady in a bright maroon dress, who wore a broad red hat from which swept long crimson plumes, graciously put bouquets composed of a flower and fern or two into the buttonhole of gentlemen's coats at from $1 to $10 a piece, at the fair in aid of St. Vincent's Hospital, in the Twenty-second Regiment Armory, last evening. It was Minnie Hawk, the cantatrice, who came to assist Mrs. Phelps, whose presence made the floral temple of previous fairs such a great success. Mme. Hawk's fingers were nimble, but they were none too quick to meet the demand for flowers, which increased to a marvelous degree on her arrival.

A WILD WOMAN.

A Tale from North Carolina Like the Stories Told in the Great Forests of the Old Country.

Louisville Commercial.

For months past there have been rumors of a terrible apparition, which has terrified all the women and children in Clear Creek township, near Charlotte, N. C. The women say that for two weeks they have been subject to terrifying visits in the absence of their husbands from a creature like a shiny, black negress with long hair and gleaming eyes. She asks in hardly distinguishable gibberish for a baby to eat, and making efforts to get hold of the children. The men, getting tired of the fears of their wives, determined to try and catch the creature, and for the last week crowds of farmers have been daily and nightly chasing her without success.

The first effort to catch her was made a week ago by John Roberts, a blacksmith. The wild creature had appeared several times at a fire which it was the habit of Casy Moore (colored) of the neighborhood to light after dark in the yard of his house for the preparation of his meals. Roberts was put to watch for her and she appeared even before the flames were well kindled. She presented such a wild look in the half-light, and asked for food in such a wild fashion, that Roberts was demoralized. He recovered, however, made an outcry, and attempted to seize the woman, but she slipped through his hands and disappeared in the dark shadows of the woods.

One morning Maj. Stephen Coswell caught sight of the creature, and chased her across an open field. He was badly hurt in his efforts to keep up with her and reported that she outran a buck, and cleared four cornrows at a leap. That same night she was again enticed from the woods by the kindling of a fire, and was chased by thirty men without success. Capt. Marsh Allen later in the day met her in the neighborhood with her face torn and bleeding, and a long, bloody knife in her hand. The creature was naked and so unearthly and terrible looking to him that he says he is not sure it is a human being. Her hair reached almost to her feet, but was kinky, like that of the African. It is not mere fright which has caused the country people to organize in their attempts to catch the creature, which has been living in the forest and swamp fastnesses for a year or more. Some months ago it is reported an infant was spirited away from its parents' yard while they were in the corn field, and was never heard from, and the disappearance was from that section of the country in which the wild woman has been seen, and mothers, white and black are in terror for fear their little ones may also become food for the cannibal negress. Yesterday the farmers, some mounted and others on foot, assembled for the purpose of surrounding a swamp in which she is known to be hid.

There are 400 men ready for the chase. At first it was attempted to run her down with bloodhounds, but they refused to chase her, which deepened the superstitious feeling with which the men as well as the women of the community began to regard her. The men made the attempt to catch her, but without success. The excitement among the negroes and simple country folks is intense. By the more intelligent farmers from that section the theory is advanced that the creature is some half witted woman who has been so long hunted down that she lives in terror of all human beings, and, therefore, lives like an animal in the forests, her necessities having forced her to eat anything she can get, including even human flesh.

RETAIL MARKET.

Corrected daily by G. W. GEISEL, Grocer, Second street, Maysville, Ky.

FLOUR.
Limestone	$ 6 75
Maysville Family	5 75
Maysville City	4 25
Mason County	5 75
Kentucky Mills	5 50
Butter, # lb.	20
Lard, # lb.	10 50
Eggs, # doz.	20
Meal # peck	20
Chickens	30 25
Molasses, fancy	75
Coal Oil, # gal.	20
Sugar, granulated # lb.	11
" A. # lb.	10 50
" yellow # lb.	9 10
Hams, sugar cured # lb.	18
Bacon, breakfast # lb.	20
Hominy, # gallon	20
Beans # gallon	4
Potatoes # peck	20
Coffee	18 15

THE WEBER PIANO.

For power, purity of tone, brilliancy of touch, beauty of finish and durability it has no equal. The most eminent pianists pronounce it

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

L. F. METZGER.

MANAGER, Branch office, Maysville, Ky.

—Also, The Matchless—

BURDETT ORGAN.

A full supply of pianos and organs constantly on hand. Correspondents promptly answered. Payments easy. sep26d&wly.

FOR SALE.

HAVING determined to go west I now offer for sale my entire stock of China, Glass and Queensware,

with the good will of the house and all information in my possession regarding the business. I have a new and well selected stock, in first rate condition and bought at low figures. Any parties wishing to enter into a good, safe paying business, now have an opportunity seldom offered.

The Fall and Holiday trade is now just on us, and an early buyer will get all the benefit therefrom. In the meantime I shall sell goods at retail and wholesale at almost cost. 017-d&wtt G. A. MCCARTHEY.